

KING EDWARD SEES BALFOUR ON BRITISH CRISIS

Premier Against Ministry Resigning, Hoping to Win on Test Vote.

LONDON, July 21.—Premier Balfour was received in audience by King Edward this evening.

The Premier's visit evidently had to do with the Government crisis.

The House of Commons sat barely half an hour to-day and then adjourned until Monday to await the Government's decision regarding its future course of action in view of the defeat of the Ministry last night on John Redmond's motion to reduce the vote for the Irish Land Commission.

The House was packed in every part, much excitement was visible on all sides and there was a disposition to view the defeat of the Government as more serious than it was generally regarded in the early hours this morning.

Immediately after the House had assembled Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, moved its adjournment, declaring that it would be unseemly under the circumstances to proceed with business while the Government was considering its position.

Premier Balfour, however, declined to adjourn the House until the all-out fight with the differences of the Scottish United Free Church and the Free Church had been passed.

This was quickly accomplished, the House rose and the excited members swarmed into the lobby to discuss the probable decision of the Cabinet, which has been summoned to meet this afternoon.

The view that the Government will resign, however, is not held in circles generally well-informed as to the Government's intentions, and it is reiterated that the resignation of the Balfour Ministry is not only in New York, the almost practical certainty that the Government will be re-elected by its normal majority on the trial of strength July 24 to which the opposition formally challenged the Ministry.

The Cabinet's decision of the House of Commons are busy signing a memorial to the Premier against either the resignation or the dissolution of the Government, like the Carlton Club, it is confidently asserted that Mr. Balfour will stand or fall according to the outcome of Monday's motion of censure.

DOUBLE SENTENCE FOR CHARLES HARRIS

Attacked the Complaining Witness in Court After Judge Imposed First One.

After Charles Harris had to-day been sentenced to Blackwell's Island for three months by Magistrate Wahle in the Essex Market Court, he grabbed Harry Hirschfeld, the complaining witness, by the throat and threatened to kill him. He then talked abusively to the Court and added another sentence of three months was imposed.

When Judge arraigned Harris said to the Court: "Say, I don't put me in hock you are a poor scoundrel."

Harris had been arrested with George Hirschfeld, who is a special policeman. Doherty got a three months' sentence.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., July 21.—Elbert Tenney, of No. 25 West One Hundred and Twenty-second street, Manhattan, had his right foot cut off here this afternoon by being run over by a trolley car.

TENNEY IS TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OLD, AND LIVES WITH HIS STEPFATHER, JOSEPH H. BABCOCK, PRESIDENT OF THE TROTTING CLUB COMPANY OF NEW YORK. HE CAME TO MOUNT VERNON THIS AFTERNOON ON A TROLLEY CAR.

At the corner of Third and Avenue C street, he stepped out on the foot board, he slipped in and fell to the ground. His right foot was under the car and the hind wheel passed over it, completely severing it. He was removed to the Mount Vernon Hospital.

YOUNG GIRL OWNS THAT SHE IS A BIGAMIST

Pretty Mary Franz, Eighteen Years Old, Confesses Double Marriage in Court.

An eighteen-year-old girl stood before Judge Crane in the County Court, Brooklyn, to-day and placidly pleaded guilty to bigamy. She is a pretty little girl, with jet-black hair, and, despite the fact that she has been in jail for several days, she was immaculately neat. The indictment against her was found under the name of Mary H. Franz, and the complainant was George Franz, of Glendale, L. I., to whom she was married last January.

She has another husband, John A. Grant, of No. 15 Fifty-seventh street, Brooklyn. Both husbands are young and stalwart. They were in court and looked pityingly at the little girl who had deceived them—for neither knew of the existence of the other until the final exposure came.

Highwayman Stops Frank Peabody in Runabout on the West Drive.

Detective-Sergeant Frank Peabody, declared by Commissioner McAdoo to be one of the most efficient men on the force, and recognized as a man who is absolutely fearless, was held up by a highwayman in Central Park at dawn to-day.

Peabody had just left the West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street station, where he had identified two men arrested as pickpockets. He drove down Central Park West to the Seventy-second street entrance and entered Central Park, his horse going at a jog when suddenly a man ran in front of his horse. The man held his coat over his face, and in his right hand there was a shining instrument that looked like a world like a revolver.

Iron Steamboat Carrying Excursionists from Olivet Church Races for Safety from Hell Gate to Where Slocum Was Beached.

Almost in the same water, just below North Brother Island, where the General Slocum was beached while on fire last summer the steamboat Sirius, carrying a thousand men, women and children from the Mount Olivet Memorial Church, No. 53 Second street, struck a jagged reef of rock to-day, tore a hole in her bottom, and was raced to safety on the mud flats above where the hundreds were killed in the memorable disaster.

The steady head and prompt action of Capt. William A. Pearce and the discipline of the crew combined to avert another terrible tragedy, for the water poured in great volume through the hole in the boat's bottom and was eight feet deep in the hold when she was beached. A few moments' hesitation, an unsteady hand at the wheel, and the steamer would have gone to the bottom, carrying hundreds of dead with her.

From what Mr. Higginson told a reporter for The Evening World to-day, members of the family have dropped all interest in the mystery of the stolen jewels. They have shaved down the value of the lost gems now to a few thousand dollars.

Charles M. Alexander Worked Great Religious Revival in England.

Rev. Charles M. Alexander, the young American evangelist whose efforts have caused a wave of religious enthusiasm to sweep Great Britain, arrived in New York to-day on the steamship Carpathia. He is not here to conduct in his native land work similar to that which he has done abroad. He is on his way to Northfield, Mass., to attend the Moody conference there. He will go back to London on Aug. 23, but plans to return to America in January for the purpose of making a tour of the continent, from Canada to Texas.

BRINGS ENGLISH WIFE.

The evangelist wore a gray suit and a white hat. A bright purple necktie gave to his attire a touch of color in keeping with the jauntyness of his step. On his arm hung Mrs. Alexander, a pretty little English woman whom he met and married in Birmingham, England. She was a Miss Cadbury, and a heiress. She first saw the evangelist at one of his meetings. After they were married Mrs. Alexander became the evangelist's inseparable companion and took an active interest in his work.

Wanamaker Interested.

"Mr. Wanamaker was at one of our meetings a few days ago," said Mr. Alexander. "He seemed pleased with the work we were doing, and said that he would like to see something of the sort in Philadelphia. Others have told me that conditions are ripe in this country for the labors of evangelists, and I feel as though I were in a way called back."

"When I return to America next January I will hold my first meetings in Toronto, Canada. After that I will probably go to Philadelphia. Then, in turn, I will visit New York and other large cities."

Mr. Alexander left Mr. Torrey in England, but the two will be together when the series of revival meetings begin in this country.
